Q. NO. 3

TOPIC:

THE ROLE OF TECHNOLOGY IN
EXPLORING THE UNIVERSE

INTRODUCTION:

Technology is the necessity of the modern world. It has made the lives of every living things easier than ever. These machines have helped humans to discover myths and secrets

of outside universe consisting of billions of galaxies and cosmos.
Without technology, even discoveries on earth could not have been possible. Technology is vital part of new exploration in universe
and will remain in this conversation.

MAIN BODY:

Humans started their exploration of outside universe
when they sent technological masterpiece Voyager I to space. After four decades, this technological prodigy has travelled billions of kilometres. It has sent us over thousands of pictures depicting great galaxies, black holes etc which expanded our knowledge about universe. Many people quoted "Voyager I never dies" to insist its role in initiating our thinking about outside world.

During this time many other technological devices have been sent to space. They helped us to discover about planets in our ~~our~~ milky way like density of Jupiter's gasses, rings of Saturn and no atmosphere conditions on planets nearer to Sun; Venus and Mercury. These devices have helped us to discover minerals and atmospheric conditions on many lunar bodies belonging to different intergalactic planets.

Now modern James Webb telescope has sent pictures of mass interest and knowledge as it took astonishing pictures of ~~colours~~ dusty clouds of galaxies which gives us immense knowledge.

Furthermore, there are many mathematical equations and theories, which have been verified after observing real time images of space brought to us by these technological devices. Many blackholes equations and Einstein's relativity theories have been successfully verified.

Lastly, we even get to know about motion and orbital speed of asteroids. This helps to deflect them before reaching Earth. This has made our life easier and dangerless.

CONCLUSION:

As said, innovation and technology is new power to be fought for in this modern world.

Many countries are constantly building technological devices to make the lives of their people easier.

Technology and Artificial Intelligence are most important thing in current world of science and modernity.
